Ziton ZP2 Fire Panel Commissioning Course

This course covers panel programming via PC Software

01 COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course covers panel programming via PC Software. Trainees must bring their laptop so the software can be loaded and tested as part of the training. ZP2 Software, panel communications and cable are included in the cost of the course. In addition to the upload/download of panel configuration, advanced topics such as networking, cause and effect mapping and peripheral equipment will also be covered.

The course is aimed at any individual who is involved in the final commission and handover the system and where simple programming from the panel interface is not enough to get the additional features required to meet the installation requirements. The individual must have a Windows* based laptop to attend the course as a large portion of the course is loading the software and interface cables to ensure that the candidate has the ability to use the ZP2 software on their laptop when they leave the course. Candidates must have attended and passed the CR3110 course.
